DELEGATES MEET TO NAME JUDGES

Conventions of Two Parties Scheduled For Today.

FORECAST OF THE RESULT

----LITTLE LIKELIHOOD OF AGREE-MENT ON TICKET.

Candidates for the bench and the district attorneyship of the Third district are to be named by conventions today. Both conventions will convene at 10 o'clock, the Democrats in Judge Hall's courtroom and the Republicans in Judge Stewart's courtroom at the city and county building.
Each convention will nominate four candidates for the bench and one for the district attorneyship.

The Democrats will likely favor a proposition to renominate the present incumbents, two Democrats and two way. The matter is likely to be sub mitted to both conventions either in-formally or in the form of a petition signed by many prominent attorneys of both parties. Several delegates to the Republican convention are authority for the statement that the Republican convention will turn the proposi-

Many Democrats favor the proposition for the reason that the present judges have abundantly demonstrated their fitness. They are evenly divided, two Republicans, two Democrats, two Mormons; two Gentiles.

Ten Want Nomination.

There is no lack of candidates on the Republican side. Ten men are out for the four nominations, Judges Morse and Lewis, Clesson S. Kinney, George G. Armstrong, G. F. Goodwin, D. H. Wenger, M. L. Ritchie, Dan Harrington, C. S. Patterson and H. S. Tanner. Judge Morse is practically assured of renomination. There will probably be a fight on Judge Lewis. It is expected that but one Mormon candidate will be nominated, which means Lewis, Harrington or Tanner is doomed to defeat. The Tanner people expect to land their man at the expense of Lewis. One slate talked of last night carried the names of Tanner, Armstrong, Wenger and Patterson. This would leave Judge Morse out but it is almost carried. Judge Morse out, but it is almost cer-tain no slate not carrying his name would go through.

For the district attorneyship D. B. Hempstead and Ray VanCott, both strong young Democratic attorneys, are prominently mentioned and it is believed one of them will be nominated.

He is the Kearns candidate and it is figured that by putting him in the boat with Tanner the latter will draw a package of meat under one arm and a saw-under the other, but before he trength, It would probably draw Rearns camp, but it is hard to imagine the senior senator sending his cohorts out to do battle for Tanner. Baker will draw some outside strength, which Kaighn claims will come to him after the first ballot. Smith has not been accounted by the come to him after the first ballot. smith has not been especially active in the ante-convention campaign, but stands well in the party and among the attorneys of the district and will cut some figure today.

The Democratic convention will consist of 161 votes. Of these 123 come from Salt Lake, seventeen from Sum-nut and eleven from Tooele. The Re-publican convention will have 155 votes, publican convention will have 155 votes, 125 from Salt Lake, nineteen from Summit and eleven from Tooele. This makes eighty-one necessary to a choice in the Democratic convention and seventy-eight in the Republican. The Salt Lake county delegations, of course, will control both conventions. Immediately after the adjournment of the Democratic judicial district convention the Salt Lake City, delegates will proceed to convene a city judicial will proceed to convene a city judicial convention for the purpose of nominating two candidates for city judges.

reasons is evidenced by the fact that every judge but one elected in the district since statehood has been a Democrat. The Democrats have always been fortunate in nominating able men for the bench, men who have drawn heavily from both parties.

Democratic lawyers have so far refrained from making an active canyass for the judicial nominations. Should the proposition of endorsing the present incumbents fail in the convention there will be little difficulty in selecting strong candidates from the many able attorneys in the party in this district.
